FIRED ON THE AMERICANS.

RUSSIANS THOUGHT THEM CHINESE.

The Chinese Defeated at Yang Tsun Have Retreated to Pekin—Long March and Heat Played Havoc With American Troops—Forty Per Cent. of the Men of One Regiment Exhausted—Butchery of Missionaries and Converts.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Washington, Aug. 13.—A dispatch from Chefoo says the general advance of the relief column began on the morning of the 8th. The allied forces will probably reach Pekin in seven days. The Chinese who were defeated at Yang Tsun have retreated to Pekin.

A terrible mistake occurred in the taking of Yang Tsun. The Russian artillery opened fire on the American troops, and before the mistake was discovered many American soldiers had been killed and wounded by Russian shells. A part of the casualties of the Fourteenth Infantry was a result of the Russian fire.

The Fourteenth participated in the attack on the trenches. As the Chinese fled the Americans entered and occupied the Chinese position. The Russian battery, some distance off, did not notice the movement and opened fire on the position, planting shells among the American troops. The Russians were quickly notified and ceased firing.

The Americans captured the Chinese works. The casualties are estimated at 70, most of these being of the Fourteenth Infantry.

The long march and the excessive heat have played havoc with the troops. Forty per cent. of the men of the Ninth Regiment are exhausted.

A dispatch received from Pekin, dated August 6th, says the army advanced 12 miles that day. Two reliable couriers who had just arrived there from Pekin said the Empress Dowager had fed the foreigners for a few days.

According to these couriers, former Viceroy Shantung, who is bitterly anti-foreign, arrived at Pekin with troops and planted two batteries on the walls near the legations They began shelling the enemy and opened a fierce rifle fire, which kept up for two days. The head of the missionary board was killed while with a party trying to get provisions.

A Catholic paper called Germania, published in Berlin, says that ten out of every fifty missionaries in Vicarato Pe Chili have been murdered. Three thousand native converts met the same fate.

MR. CAUSEY HERE.

Surprised That Suspicion Should Have Rested Upon Him.

Mr. P. E Causey, who, as stated in Saturday's Telegram, has been arrested on a warrant charging him with arson, arrived from Mt. Airy yesterday at noon, accompanied by an officer. He immediately gave bond in the sum of $250 for his appearance at a preliminary hearing before the Mayor this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Causey tells The Telegram that he is innocent of the crime with which he is charged and expressed surprise that suspicion should have rested upon him He said that he went to Mt. Airy principally on account of his wife's health. He also said that his clerk had not slept in the store for several months previous to the fire, and that Mrs. Buchanan, who occupied rooms over the store, had been away for ten days when the fire occurred.

The hearing was postponed until tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Denny Succeeds Mr. Burch.

The death of Mr. J D. Burch creates a vacancy in the force of letter carriers in this city which will be filled by the appointment of Mr. W. R. Denny, who has been acting as substitute. The appointment will be made upon the return to the city of Postmaster Glenn.

The appointment of Mr. Denny will leave no available substitute, the other "sub," Mr. Walter Lewis, being on Mr. W. F. Clarida's route. A substitute will be appointed from one of two eligibles—Mr. G. C. Smith, of this city, and Mr. W. M. Montgomery, of McLeansville.

COL. OSBORN'S BARBECUE.

A Delightful Occasion at the Battle Ground Saturday Afternoon.

One of the most delightful events of the season was a barbecue and Brunswick stew at the Guilford Battle Ground Saturday afternoon, given by Col. W. H. Osborn, complimentary to the patients at the Keeley Institute. By special invitation, a number of prominent gentlemen of Greensboro were present and enjoyed the hospitality of the genial Colonel.

The stew and barbecued pigs were prepared "to the Queen's taste" by Mr. Bob Cates, of Durham, who is an expert in his line. An abundance of fresh vegetables and ice cold lemonade completed the bill of fare.

About seventy persons gathered around the tables, where they did full justice to the bountiful feast. It was a merry and congenial crowd, and it is safe to say that a barbecue was never enjoyed more. The sharpened appetites of the guests were not equal to the task of doing away with the abundance of good things that had been so carefully prepared.

Col. Osborn was master of ceremonies, and right well did he perform the task. There were no awkward pauses and plates were not allowed to become empty.

The occasion will long be remembered by every one who was so fortunate as to be able to partake of Col. Osborn's boundless hospitality.

THE OLD JAIL BURNED.

The Home of Criminals for 25 Years Goes Up in Smoke and Flames.

The old dilapidated structure which has been doing duty as the Guilford county jail for 25 years is no more. Where the old eyesore stood is a pile of loose bricks and smouldering embers.

The prisoners were moved into the new jail Saturday afternoon, and a few minutes after 6 o'clock in the evening the torch was applied to the building which has sheltered so many criminals in the past. The blaze was started by Sheriff Gilmer in the presence of a thousand or more citizens who had gathered to witness the work of destruction.

The building made a very hot blaze and burned for several hours before the roof fell in. The fire department was on hand and kept streams of water playing on the building to prevent the blaze from spreading.

The walls of the structure were of logs, which were weatherboarded on both sides. This made a slow and hot fire.

There is only one trouble about the new jail. It is such a comfortable place it is feared that it will be constantly full during the severe winter weather.

NORTHERN INVESTORS.

The Work Being Done to Direct Their Attention to Greensboro.

Probably more Northern investors now have their eyes on Greensboro than at any time in the past. One real estate firm alone (L. H. Sturgis & Co.) receives inquiries almost daily from persons who are looking for a good point to locate, many of whom can be induced to come to Greensboro if the proper efforts are put forth.

Today Mr. L. H. Sturgis showed The Telegram a letter from a Northern capitalist asking what inducements would be held out for the location of industrial and commercial plants in Greensboro. He is interested in several concerns which are looking for a suitable location in the South.

This is only a sample of the many inquiries received by this and other firms. The number would be greatly increased with more united efforts to attract people to Greensboro. The Industrial and Immigration Association, the real estate dealers and others are doing much work in this direction, but there is room for still more effective work. United and constant effort is what is needed.

Disastrous Explosion.

By Wire to the Telegram.

New York, Aug. 13.—A monster steam pipe in the New York Steam Heating Company's plant, on Greenwich street, exploded this morning, imperiling the lives of a hundred people and scalding three men to death. It is feared that many more were killed or suffered serious injuries.

CITY BUYS THE WATERWORKS.

PAYS $87,500 FOR THE SYSTEM.

The Company is to Indemnify the City Against Losses by Lawsuits, Etc.—The Water and Light Plants Will be Combined and Operated at a Saving, Yielding a Handsome Revenue—Regarded as a Good Trade for the City.

A question which has been vexing the aldermen of Greensboro for two years has been settled, and as a result the property of the Greensboro Water Supply Company will be transferred to the city.

The matter was determined at a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen Saturday night, when it was decided to purchase the water company's plant for the sum of $87,500. The water company is to give a bond, indemnifying the city against losses by lawsuits, etc. The $110,000 of bonds issued by the company are to be retired and turned over to the city, thus giving the city a plant practically free of incumbrance. When everything is taken into consideration, this is regarded as a splendid trade for the city of Greensboro.

The transaction has been accomplished as the result of the expenditure of much time and a great deal of labor. Conferences without number have been held between officials of the city and representatives of the water company in an effort to come together. For some time it has appeared that the trade was off, and some time ago the city secured an option on property on South Buffalo creek with the idea of putting in an entirely new system. The Mayor had been authorized to dispose of $100,000 of waterworks bonds, and the indications were that the work of installing the new plant would begin before many moons had elapsed

The new turn affairs have taken will have a good effect on the sale of the bonds, as a greater premium can be realized when it is known that competition is removed and the property to be bonded is paying handsomely.

The income from the waterworks is about $16,000 a year, and it will increase as the sewerage system is extended. The expense of operation is about $5,000 a year, from which it will be seen that the city will derive a handsome revenue, even after the interest on the bonds are paid.

It is the intention of the city to combine the water and light plants, operating them both under one system and at a combined expense of about $7,000 per year. The city now pays in rentals to the water and light companies $11,000 a year. This, with the income from the consumers of water, estimated at not less than $11,000, will give $22,000 to pay the expense of operation and the interest on the bonds.

The revenue derived from the city hall and market house and the water and light plants will more than pay the interest on the entire issue of $300,000 of bonds.

It is probable that the city will either purchase or take an extended option on the property on South Buffalo upon which it was intended to erect an independent plant. This will be done in order to have an adequate water supply if it should be found advisable to move the pumping station at any time in the future.

SEVERAL PEOPLE KILLED.

Returning From the King's Funeral, a Number of Persons Meet Death.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Rome, Aug. 13.—Owing to the large number of persons returning from the obsequies of the dead King Humbert yesterday, two trains were run on the road between Rome and Florence. The piston rod of the first train broke, bringing the cars to a standstill. Before a warning could be given the second section crashed into the train, causing a terrible wreck. The rear carriage of the first train was broken into kindling wood.

Seven persons were killed outright and 40 injured, 15 seriously.

An officer was dispatched to secure assistance and acquaint the King of the accident. The King and Queen Helene drove to the scene and showed extreme solicitude. The King remained on the spot some time, but the Queen returned to Rome.

ASLEEP IN DEATH.

After a Lingering Illness Mrs. Wagg Goes to Her Reward.

Mrs. T. E. Wagg, who had been critically ill for three months or more, died at the Methodist parsonage on McCulloch street Sunday evening between 7 and 8 o'clock. While her death came as a great sorrow to her loved ones and friends, it was no surprise Those who had watched by her bedside during her lingering illness knew that it was only a matter of time until the gentle spirit would leave its tenement of clay for the home above.

Mrs. Wagg was one of those rare, sweet Christian characters that exemplify in their lives the teachings of the lowly Nazarene. With her the service of the Master was the greatest duty and most blessed privilege in life. Though an invalid for several years, she was of great aid and encouragement to her husband in his work as a minister of the Methodist Church.

She had lived in Greensboro nearly two years, since the appointment of her husband to the pastorate of Centenary church, during which time she made many warm friends.

The deceased was born in Ashe county on September 11th, 1858, and before her marriage to Mr. Wagg on January 29th, 1880, was known as Miss Mary E. Burkett.

In addition to the sorrowing husband, she leaves five grief-stricken children.

The funeral took place at the parsonage this afternoon at 3 o'clock, the service being conducted by Rev. Dr. F. H. Wood and Rev. J. C. Rowe. Interment was made in Green Hill cemetery.

A WHOLESALE THIEF.

A Negro Steals Clothing and Southern Mileage and Forms the Acquaintance of the New Jail.

Lee Swaim, a young negro who went on a wholesale stealing expedition Saturday, is in the clutches of the law.

In broad daylight he went to the residence of Mr. John A. Rankin, on South Ashe street, and stole a pair of pants belonging to Mr. Lacy Rankin. He next went to the home of Mr. T. J. Copeland, where he found a good coat hanging conveniently in the hallway. He appropriated the garment and two Southern mileage books which chanced to be in one of the pockets. Before winding up his operations he also stole a pair of pants from the home of Mr. Curtis, on South Greene street.

The mileage books were made out to Mr. and Mrs. Copeland, respectively. Swaim erased the name from Mr. Copeland's book and attempted to dispose of it to Mr. John B. Graham, the Southern's ticket agent. His stupidity in attempting to redeem the mileage gave him away. Mr. Graham notified an officer, who arrested the thief.

MR. J. D. BURCH DEAD.

Confined to His Room Only Six Days—A Good and Faithful Man.

Mr. J. D. Burch, whose critical illness was noted in the last issue of The Telegram, died at his home on Walker avenue at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. He had been unwell for some time, but had been confined to his room only since last Monday morning. He was taken with a chill and high fever and was very sick from the time he went to bed. He had obtained a leave of absence from his duties at the postoffice and was intending to leave on a vacation the day he was compelled to take to his bed.

The funeral was held from his late residence yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock and was attended by a large crowd of friends. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. J. C. Rowe. The pallbearers were: Messrs. C. H. Ireland, J. L Brockmann, C. G. Burton, E. P. Land, G. W. Ward and C. H. Dorsett.

Mr. Burch was between 40 and 45 years of age and had resided in Greensboro for the past 10 or 12 years. He had been in the postal service for five years, occupying the position of city mail carrier. He was punctual and faithful in the performance of all his duties.

He was a member of the Methodist church and secretary of the Spring Garden Street chapel Sunday school.

Mr. Burch is survived by a wife and one child.

IN SOUTH AFRICA.

The Public Mind in England to be Prepared for Annexation.

New York Sun.

The tenor of the latest news from Pretoria, that of the plot to seize Lord Roberts, and the other of influential burghers desiring the annexation of the Transvaal by the British Government, is of such a character that it is no doubt intended to prepare the public mind in England for the step. A strong and growing feeling was manifesting itself in England of late against the policy of annexation, but Parliament is no longer sitting, and the Government, which appears in this matter to be entirely under the control of the Secretary for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, can afford to disregard any expression of dissent not pronounced in Parliament. The annexation by proclamation would also have the advantage of enabling the British Government to treat the Transvaal burghers, who refused to surrender as rebels, and might, perhaps, accomplish what the numerous British Generals with their superior forces are unable to achieve.

The surrender of Gen. Prinsloo's force in the Caledon Valley appears to have been brought about chiefly by the failing of its supply of ammunition, the burghers only having, according to the official report, an average of about forty-five cartridges each left. At last accounts Gen. De Wet was still at large. He had apparently worked his way round Gen. Methuen's left flank and reached Buffels Hoek, west of Potchefstroom; from where he would find the way across the rolling veldt, toward where Gen. Delarey recently captured the Elands River garrison, open to him. The escape of Gen. De Wet from the very critical position in which he was at Reitzberg, considering the overwhelming strength of the British forces surrounding him, is another of the many instances that have occurred in this protracted war of the singular lack among the British Generals of the capacity to adopt their tactics to the conditions in which they find themselves.

Our hotels did a good business yesterday.

Cold drinks of no kind were allowed sold here yesterday. It looked to be a necessity to the sweltering crowd with parched tongues.

Yesterday was the big day among the Quakers here. In the morning services were held in all the churches of the town and in the tent and at the stand on the Friends grounds. A large crowd was on hand all day long, despite the dust and heat which was almost unbearable. In the afternoon Rev. Willis Hatchkiss preached in the church; Revs. Wm Hobson and Amos Kenworthy in the tent; Revs. John T. Hadley and Chas. G. W. Hiatt at the stand. Night services were largely attended and, as all the other meetings, were of good results. Every one seemed to enjoy themselves and good order prevailed throughout the day.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Armfield, Jr., of Asheboro, are visitors here.

Mrs. S. L. Davis and Miss Bertha Snow will leave next week for Mt. Vernon Springs.

Mrs M. K. Callum, of Greensboro, and Miss Willie Kerns is visiting the family of Mr. J. W. Harris.

Rev. J. W. Goodman goes to Springwood church this week to assist in a meeting.

After Yearly Meeting Sunday our people begin to think of going to the big meeting at Muir's Chapel the following Sunday.

Mr. S. F. and Miss Pierce and W. E. Smith and friend, of Winston, attended the meeting yesterday.

There was preaching in all the churches Sunday morning, conducted by visiting Friends ministers.

The Misses Balsley, of Reidsville, are visiting at the home of Mr J. B. Best.

Mr. W. Gould Brokaw, owner of Fairview Lodge, located near here, will fence in his entire place, including Shepherd Mountain, with wire. The fence is to be 8 feet high and will cost $5,000. A number of deer will be placed on the reservation.

Misses Agnes and Edith Moring, of Asheboro, are visiting Miss Kate Ingram.

Miss Myrtle Harris, of Henderson, is visiting the Misses Pickett.

News was received here Saturday evening telling of the marriage of Miss Amice Wheeler, one of High Point's popular young ladies, to Mr. Timmons, of Charlotte, which occurred in Danville that day. The news came as a complete surprise to Miss Wheeler's many friends here. She had been visiting in Lexington and was expected home the day of her marriage. It was a Gretna Green affair.

Joe Phillips and Miss Sallie Love, Lute Glasscock and Miss Maggie Kelly, Will Fields and Miss Daisy Phoenix were among the visitors from Greensboro yesterday. They came by private conveyance.

Messrs. C. W. Crawford and H. A. Millis have returned from a stay of several days at Blowing Rock.

Dr. Walton, Dr. L. L. Sapp, D. F. Jones and Mr. Roberson, of Reidsville, were among the visitors yesterday.

Messrs. Wm. H. Hunt, H. E. Sink, C. M. Clodfelter, C. L. Everhardt and D. A. Shoaf, of Lexington, were here Sunday.

Messrs. R. L. Lamberth, J. L. Armfield and W. H. Ragan came down from Thomasville yesterday.

John and Fox R. P. Dicks represented Randleman here Sunday.

The High Point Shirt Sleeve club has been organized with the following officers: W. C. Jones, president; S. L. Davis, secretary. Membership committee: E. A. Snow, C. A. Barbee, Chas Long, H. B. Turner and Milt Crawford. No fees charged for membership. The only elligibility for membership is that each member must pledge himself not to sacrifice his position regardless of lectures by sweethearts and wives.

Ice Trust's Reign is Ended.

New York, Aug. 12.—The People's Co-operative Ice Company, organized to relieve the oppression of the Ice Trust, is ready to do business.

The company is prepared to supply families with ice at the rate of 30 cents per hundred weight, and to make special rates for hotels, restaurants and other large consumers.

It is also a part of the company's plan to sell shares of its stock at $5 each, which makes it possible for consumers to become both sellers and buyers with the consequent advantages of the co-operative principle.

Pennsylvania Republicans Partial to Illiteracy.

Philadelphia Record.

Much sympathy is expressed by the Republican organs in Pennsylvania for the illiterate negroes who are about to lose the elective suffrage in North Carolina. The Republican leaders in Pennsylvania are, in fact, so partial to illiteracy that they have provided by law for an assistant to accompany the ignorant voter into the election booth in order to facilitate the deposit of his ballot and witness its sale.

A Boy's Idea of Capital Punishment.

Orphan's Friend.

Mr. Jones has a Sunday school class composed of boys with quite original ideas. Last Sunday he asked his class the meaning of capital punishment. At first it seemed that no member of the class was equal to the occasion, but at last one little fellow, the hardships of the past week impressed indelibly upon his mind, answered with confidence, "Scourin.'"

A SURPRISE MARRIAGE.

Mr. Timmons, of Charlotte, and Miss Wheeler, of High Point.

Charlotte Observer, 12th.

A telegram from Danville, Va., yesterday afternoon announced the marriage of Mr. Charles E. Timmons, of this city, to Miss Annie E. Wheeler, of High Point. The wedding was a Grenta Green affair, and the ceremony was performed at the residence of a Methodist preacher.

This marriage is the result of a very romantic courtship. Mr. Timmons first met Miss Wheeler on the train last New Year's Day and until yesterday he has seen her but once since that time. But they kept in constant correspondence and eventually decided to elope.

Last week Miss Wheeler visited at Mr. J. N. Mendenhall's, in Lexington, and three days ago she left Lexington to visit a daughter of Mr. Aaron Griffith, who lives about ten miles from the town. She kept in telegraphic communication with Mr. Timmons and wired him Friday night that she would meet im at Lexington on the next morning. Mr. Timmons left here on the early morning train yesterday, and confronting no obstacle whatever, he and Miss Wheeler were maried in Danville and returned here last night. They are now at Mr. E. W. Mooring's, on West Sixth street.

The bride is the oldest dauhter of Mr. R. A. Wheeler, who is secretary and treasurer of the High Point Coffin and Casket Company. She is pretty, and a very attractive and popular young lady.

Mr. Timmons has lived in Charlotte all his life and for the last nine years has been in the employ of Heath Brothers. He serves in a confidential and trustworthy capacity to his employers, and is held in high esteem by them. He is a sober, industrious and capable young man and has many friends in this city.

RUSSIAN PLANS TO CRUSH CHINA.

Czar's Forces in the East to be Increased to 400,000 Men.

London, Aug. 12.—A dispatch to the Graphic from Moscow describes the growth of the war fever against China among all classes, the feeling not being alone connected with the Pekin situation. Russia, it is said, is concentrating 400,000 men in the far East for the purpose of inflicting a series of staggering blows on the Chinese. She will not commence the really offensive until success is certain. She realizes that the future security of her eastern boundaries depends upon her inflicting such chastisement as will deter the Chinese for generations from violating Russian territory. Therefore, the Slav fiat has gone forth that the Mongol must be overwhelmed and crushed beyond ressurrection.

It is rumored in military circles that the Russian permanent force in the Eastern possessions will be increased to 400,000 men.

Chinese Flee From Hawaii.

Victoria, B. C., August 12 —Advices from Honolulu say that many Chinese are leaving there, fearing revenge will be taken on them for the Boxer outrages. Chinese societies have passed resolutions condemning the Boxers.

Captain Henry Klemme forwarded by the steamer City of Pekin letters and documents in regard to a military company he formed here for service in China He offers 106 men and three officers, or 109 men in all. Accompanying the application is a letter from Governor Dole, indorsing Captain Kelmme's project.

KEEPS HIS PETRIFIED WIFE

Spouse No. 2 Has Not the Slightest Objection.

Chanute, Kan., August 12.—For several years J. H Rickel has kept his two wives in his little carriage shop here, and the women have never spoken to each other, yet no jealousy exists between them.

The reason for this is that the first wife, who died in the Dakota bad lands 25 years ago, is petrified, and is securely packed in a wooden box.

The living wife is her husband's constant companion and helps him in the shop, besides doing her housework.

When Rickel moved from Dakota, several years ago, he exhumed the body of wife No. 1 and found it to be petrified. He says it seems only natural that he should want her body as near him as possible. He adds that it is the only thorough case of petrifaction of a human body in the United States. The form is perfect and the features of the face almost lifelike.

The first bale of new cotton was sold on the Laurinburg market Saturday. It brought nine cents a pound.

LABOR TROUBLE AT DURHAM.

Union Cotton Mill Operatives Notified to Seek Other Situations—Erwin Mills May Shut Down.

Durham Special to The Charlotte Observer.

There is trouble in the Erwin Cotton Mills, West Durham, between the mill owners and employes that may result in a complete shut down of the mill. The trouble is over the formation of a union by the operatives.

About one month ago a man by the name of Ellis came among the people of West Durham and began to organize this union and before the management of the mill were aware there were a la ge number of members and the organization had secured a secure footing. Every effort was made to stop the organization, but to no avail and this morning it was stated that there were 260 members in this mill alone, in addition to another branch in the East Durham Mill. A few days ago some 15 of the members of the union were notified that they would not be needed in the mill longer than two weeks, there being an agreement between the employer and the employe that a two-weeks' notice must be given before any discharges are made or any of the men quit work. To-day Mr. Erwin notified all who were members of the union to quit at the expiration of two weeks. A special meeting of the union was held to-night, at which it is stated that 40 new members joined, notwithstanding the position taken by the mill people. This makes in all, over 300 members of the organization, and as all will have to give up their positions it means that the mill will have to close down for a while at least. It is said that one-half of the mill will close down in a day or so and the other half will have to close unless hands are secured at a very rapid rate.

It is understood that there are two men on the road for the purpose of getting labor and some of these new men have arrived. In nearly every instance these men have joined the union before going to work and the matter of putting down the union is not being strengthened very much.

There is no trouble anticipated. The operatives say that everything will be done in an orderly manner and that the men who are given their walking papers will quietly seek other positions and the union work will go on among those who take their places.

The Erwin Mill is one of the largest in the State and employs about 900 or 1,000 hands. There are a large number of these who are represented by the 300 who are in the union, there being several in many of the families who work in the mill. The general opinion is that the whole movement will result in a shut-down of the mill.

Future developments will be watched with no little interest by people in this section. Those who are joining the union are not asking for more pay or shorter hours, but simply claim the right to organize for mutual help and protection.

BIG RENTS IN LONDON.

Fabulous Prices Paid For Domiciles In Aristocratic Quarters.

Pretty nearly everybody understands, of course, that house rents are very considerably greater in London than they are in provincial towns and that in the metropolis they vary greatly and are very stiff in the regions where society hovers. But a writer in Tit-Bits ventures to think that even few Londoners have much idea of the enormous figures paid for the rentals of fashionable houses in Belgravia and Mayfair or realize how few square yards of the west end it takes to produce a million sterling in this way.

Now, take, to start with, Park lane, that highly fashionable thoroughfare. It is rather staggering to learn that $50,000 a year is really not at all a very extravagant rent to pay for a good house in this quarter. The plain, simple fact of the matter is, however, that you cannot get a decent house here for less than $15,000, and even such a one would only have three or four bedrooms and, generally speaking, would not have greater accommodation than a house at $250 or $300 a year in the suburbs or at half that price in a provincial town.

Grosvenor square and Berkeley square are renowned headquarters of society, which pays astonishingly for its residence there.

Consider the former first. The whole square comprises fewer than 60 houses, but it is a fact that their combined annual rental is about $750,000. Big as the rents are, getting a house here is a matter of great difficulty, and seldom is there one to let for long. Nothing can be got for less than $5,000 a year, and from this figure an intending tenant may go up to $30,000 a year.

Berkeley square is likewise difficult to get into. It is rather old fashioned and severe, and the average man or woman from the country might not be able to see anything about the houses which would justify a heavy drain being made upon a tenant's pocket. But, all the same, houses here are always at a premium, and you will not get much of a residence for $2,500 a year, nor yet, so far as that goes, is the accommodation very astonishing if $10,000 a year is paid.

St. James square is another ultra fashionable quarter which a millionaire might have to wait years to get into if he desired to live there—$15,000 or $20,000 a year is quite a moderate rent for a house so situated—while Norfolk House, where the Duke of Norfolk resides, and such others as Lord Derby's residence, at 33, would easily realize $50,000 a year in rent.

Carlton House terrace, where statesmen and embassadors live, also costs its tenants dearly. At least $20,000 a year must be paid for anything good in this particular neighborhood, and Mr. Astor gave more than $300,000 when he purchased one of the houses in the terrace, formerly occupied by Lord Granville. Yet the ordinary man would remark that the houses are not even semidetached and that outwardly, at all events, they are far from imposing.

Look Before You Leap.

Once upon a time there was a young man who believed what the books said. He left the farm and came to the great city to make his fortune and to climb the ladder of fame. The books said a great deal about the ladder of fame, so the young man exercised himself on copybook morals and poor Richard's almanac in order to be able to chin himself up a round at a time.

He was especially strong on runaway horses, and one day, to his gratification, he saw a mad steed plunging down the crowded street. He could not see any fainting maiden attached, but still he knew this was his opportunity. He sprang for the bridle, but hit the front wheel instead and was projected with violence into the gutter. Six months later, when he came out of the hospital, he was sent to the Home For the Feebleminded for trying to stop a fire marshal in the performance of his duty.

Moral—Get your opportunities labeled.—Dartmouth Literary Monthly.

Ruskin's Collars.

A prophet indeed has no honor in his own country. An English gentleman who had gone to Brantwood on an outing tour, finding himself in need of books in order to beguile a heavy hour or two, stepped into a bookstore of Ruskin's village and asked the lady attendant if she had any of the thinker's books. "Yes," she replied. "There were some, but they were not often asked for."

Having obtained the book he desired, he asked her what she thought of the great critic and teacher. Her ideas of Ruskin's personality were very vague, however, and she excused her ignorance on the ground that the people about there did not seem to trouble much about him. As for herself, she only knew him as "the old gentleman who only had a clean collar once a week."

He Expresses His Sentiments.

The injured football player gasped for breath.

"I want"— he whispered faintly.

They bent over him anxiously.

"—to deny that football is brutal."

Then he became unconscious.—New York Truth.

They Took Their Turns.

A young man residing in the northern section of the city had been calling for some time on a young woman, in fact he thoroughly enjoyed the company of her whole family. One evening he called and of the father who answered his ring he made his usual inquiry, "Are the folks in?" He was answered in the affirmative and asked to "step in."

He was ushered into the parlor, and after the old gentleman had engaged in conversation with him for about a quarter of an hour he excused himself, went out, and the eldest son next entered and entertained the young man for about a quarter of an hour. Then another brother and sister, and the young man's suspicions were somewhat aroused when the mother took her turn. A little sister came next, followed in turn by the family cat, which rubbed itself against the young man's newly pressed trousers.

He gave a sigh of relief when, after an hour spent in misery, his sweetheart made her appearance. He begged of her to "put him next" to the joke, and between her bursts of laughter she informed him that "since he was trying to court the whole family papa thought they had best take turns."

It is unnecessary to say that he failed to see the joke and has ceased his attentions.—Reading Eagle.

MONDAY AUGUST 13, 1900.

THE SUN ON BRYAN.

There is not a doubt that many of the forces that were against Bryan in 1896 are for him this year. This is especially notable among the newspapers. These ever watchful guardians evidently think that the sting has been taken from Mr. Bryan and that he is not only harmless, but preferable to McKinley. Here, for example, is what the Baltimore Sun, a paper that vio-opposed Mr. Bryan in 1896, says of him now:

In one single senterce William J. Bryan makes it so plain that no man can misunderstand the difference between a constitutional President and an encroaching usurping executive—in a word, between Bryan the tribune of the people, and McKinley, the would-be dictator. "If elected," he declares, "I shall convene Congress in extraordinary session as soon as I am inaugurated and recommend an immediate declaration of the nation's purpose in regard to the future fate and disposition of the Phillippines." There are no ifs or buts about this declaration. He does not say—and, what is more, he does not mean—"If I do not change my mind"—"if the bosses and the trusts consent"—"if Mark Hanna approves"—but, unreservedly and without unnecessary delay, "as soon as I am inaugurated I shall convene Congress in extraordinary session." If elected the people's President he pledges himself not to govern without the help and concurrence of the people's Congress, according to the spirit and the plan of the constitution.

In their whole mental and constitutional make-up, their moral fibre and their will power, there could not be two men more diametrically the opposite to each other than William J. Bryan and William McKinley. The latter richly deserves the keen thrust which Mr. Bryan gives to those who are fond of quoting Destiny as being responsible for their acts when he says: "Destiny is the subterfuge of the intebrate who, lacking courage to oppose error, seeks some plausible excuse for supporting it." Not without reason has President McKinley been frequently compared to a jelly-fish.

We have dwelt upon but one feature of Mr. Bryan's address, for the opportunity which it affords for contrasting his principles and methods with those of his opponent. The whole speech is full of such suggested contrasts. Let no one be deterred by its apparent length from reading it carefully. It could not have been made shorter and have furnished such a complete and satisfactory discussion of the whole subject of imperialism, every aspect and phase of which it completely covers. No candid and thoughtful person can begin the perusal of this really great speech and stop short of reading it to the end, and it deserves to be read by every man, woman and child who is capable of understanding and appreciating clear, simple, vigorous English. It does more than sustain Mr. Bryan's previous reputation as an oratar. It abundantly justifies the contention of his friends that during the last four years he has matured and broadened in his views and his intellectual grasp. While characterized by his usual facility and felicity of expression, it is notably free from any straining after mere rhetorical effect, but, on the contrary, is full of solid meat—meat for grown men as well as babes. From its simple and modest exordium to its splendid peroration it is throughout argumentive and unanswerable. The Democrats will have no better literature to circulate than this initial speech in the campaign of their eloquent leader.

What has become of the boasted prosperity which was to carry the Republican party to an easy victory this fall? The business of the country is in a more stagnant condition now than during the summer of 1896. It is time for Mark Hanna's literary bureau to be getting in its work.

Notwithstanding the fact that Republican newspapers and politicians attempt to make light of Mr. Bryan's great Indianapolis speech, they cannot conceal their wrath over the terrible arraignment of the administration by the Democratic candidate for the presidency.

Marion Butler's failure to appear at the meeting of his National Committee in Chicago may cause a searching party to be sent to the huckleberry fields of Sampson.

Don't forget the Central Carolina Fair. Talk it to your friends and acquaintances when you meet them, and when you go away from town speak a good word for it.

Further Refinements Suggested to the Shirt Waist Man.

Kate Masterson, in New York Sun.

Oh, You Horrid Thing!
You Shirt waist Man
Get hence!
Don't you know
That you're not planned
For neglige effects?
Cant't you realize
That if we allowed you
To leave off your coat
There's no knowing where you'd stop?
For you're just the sort
That needs an iron hand
To keep you in your place
And that is in your coat!
No velvet paw,
No angel's touch will ever lead you.
But a few swift lines
Like these
May make you see
The error of your ways.
It may be true that you have trousers made
With high hips—
Whatever that may mean:
And that you sport a belt
In which you seem to have perfec confidence.
But, Oh!
Lal—lal-la-la-la!
Poor thing,
Don't you know
That if you wear a shirt waist
You must have dress shields,
And a pully belt,
And of the new straight front ones,
And safetypins,
And lattice-work effects
Through which there is
A dim shadowy view,
Low-necked
Cut "V,"
And finished with a fence,
Through which runs baby ribbon,
So called,
Though not for infant's wear
Exclusively,
And dinky little bows?
It takes all this
To make a shirt waist possible;
But there are lots of things,
Shirt waist Man,
That you've yet to learn,
Take heed,
Cling to your coat,
And shoes,
And socks,
And other queer things that you wear
For truly, Shirt waist Man,
You are a sight
To make the angels
Flap their wings and coo with merriment.
Now, be nice,
Put on your coat
And try to forget you ever took it off
And wore high hips.
Shirt waist Man,
You wont do!

Mr. L. W. Crawford, Jr., has returned from Piedmont Springs and the Winston District Conference at Lewisville.

Claude M. Bernard, United States Attorney for the Eastern District of North Carolina, spent last night at the McAdoo House.

Mr. Charles B. Kendall, editor of the Greene Cove Springs, Fla., Times, arrived Saturday night on a short visit.

Rev. Dr. R. E. Caldwell, of Winston, passed through at noon on his way to Kentucky, where he goes to spend a vacation of three or four weeks.

Postmaster Tyre Glenn, who has been spending a few days in Yadkin county, is expected to return home this evening or tomorrow.

Mrs. R. T. Van Patton and children, who have been visiting Miss Mabel Hill, returned to their home in Portsmouth, Va., today.

Rev. Casper Fry, of Gas City, Ind., who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. J. M. Hobbs, went to Liberty yesterday, where he had an appointment to preach. From there he goes to Hasty, N. C., to visit his father.

Dr. S. M. Smith, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Columbia, S. C., came in at noon today and will visit his brother, Rev. Dr. Egbert Smith. Before returning to his work in South Carolina, Dr. Smith will visit friends and relatives in the North.

The Graded School library will be open Monday and Tuesday from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m. A fine of five cents a day will be charged for all books not returned then. 11-2t

To Make "Ads." Attractive.

A business establishment can no more afford to be careless and slip-shod in its advertising than in any other department. Just as good window-dressing is essential to the success of a store, so is freshness, novelty and whatever attracts favorable attention necessary to the best results in advertising. There is nothing hap-hazard and accidental about an alluring window display. Not less care should be given to the advertising display.

The Wounded Woman Improving.

The wife of Alex. Jordan, colored, who was shot Friday night, is improving, and it is thought that she may recover. Her husband is still in jail awaiting a preliminary hearing. He sticks to his former statement that the shooting was accidental. His wife corroborates him and says they were "just a-foolin'." Some of the neighbors, however, put a different construction on the affair and maintain that Jordan and his wife were quarreling.

A preliminary hearing will be held as soon as the woman is able to attend the trial.

Waterproof Paper Discovered.

Amherst, Mass., August 12.—One of the youngest inventors of the century is Charles I. Goessman, of this town. He has invented a process for manufacturing and waterproofing paper by the use of which valuable documents, such as wills and deeds, which have been turned into pulp heretofore, stand the test of water and will emerge as decipherable as if they had never been wet.

Young Goessman has studied industrial chemistry for a year only. He became attached to the health experiment station, the United States institution at this place, as assistant to his father, Charles I. Goesman, official chemist at the station.

Ex-Senator Peffer, of Kansas, will stump for McKinley this fall, according to word received by a Republican national committeeman.

TRIALS OF A COMPOSER.

Some of Sousa's Struggles Early In His Career.

"The first piece I ever had published I paid for," said Mr. Sousa. "It cost me $25, and that $25 was a great deal of money to me, an awful lot. Of course the piece did not sell. Some friends of mine with a great big gob of kindness in their hearts bought copies—I think about $4 worth. But the rest of the world, though it was hunting new tunes, paid no attention to the publication of my piece. It had not found me yet, and the fact that I was disappointed in the sale of my music did not disarrange its machinery in the least. The next time I thought I would try Philadelphia. I went up to the publishing house of Lee & Walker and showed my two compositions to the editor, with whom I struck up a friendship that has lasted since that day, and that was in 1872, when I was 18 years old. He played over my pieces, and they sounded beautiful. He was a good pianist, and I never have been. He made some kind of a cabalistic mark on them—I suppose it meant O. K.—and sent me down to see Mr. Lee. Mr. Lee liked the pieces, but I was a young man, an absolutely unknown young man, and all that. You know what they all say. Still the pieces were very nice, and they would publish them, giving me—I held my breath—giving me 100 copies of each piece. My railroad fare from Washington to Philadelphia and return and my hotel bill amounted to about $15, and for that I was to get 100 copies of each of my two pieces, which would cost the publisher perhaps $7. I thought that was pretty hard. But I accepted. I supposed that the music would be printed off right away. It wasn't. After about a dozen letters from me during a period of six or seven months I finally got word that they might get the piece out the following quarter."

"Now that you have made a hit, don't those pieces sell?"

Mr. Sousa shook his head and pressed his lips together. "The world does not turn back and look for what it has once passed by. It wants something new.

"After awhile I sold my compositions for what I could get—anything from $5 up to $25. The 'Washington Post March' and the 'High School Cadet March' I sold for $35 each. They made an independent fortune for the publisher, Coleman, of Philadelphia."

"And all you got out of them was $70?"

Mr. Sousa nodded. He did not seem to feel bad about it. He seemed to think it was a kind of a joke on him, of course, but a good joke for all that. Probably he believes that there are more marches just as good where they came from. Probably he has got over grieving about it in the last ten years. —Ainslee's Magazine.

Depth of the Bible.

The wise of the world and the great ones, said Luther, understand not God's word, but God hath revealed it to the poor contemned simple people, as our Saviour Christ witnesseth, where he saith, "I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent and hast revealed them unto babes," etc., from whence St. Gregory says well and rightly that the Holy Scripture is like a water wherein an "elephant swimmeth, but a little sheep goeth therein upon his feet."

I remember a fable, said Luther, which fitteth very well for these times and for this purpose discoursed of before. A lion, said he, making a great feast, invited all the beasts thereunto, and with them also he invited swine. Now, as all manner and sorts of dainties were brought and set before the guests, the swine demanded if brewers' grain might be had for them. Even so in these days it is with our epicures. We preachers bring and set before them in the church the most dainty and costly dishes as everlasting salvation, remission of sins and God's grace, but they, like swine, cast up their snouts and root after dollars, crowns and ducats and, indeed, said Luther, "What should a cow do with nutmegs?" She would rather content herself with oat straw.—Table Talk of Martin Luther.

A Library of Babylon.

Professor Herman V. Hilprecht, the Babylonian explorer who in the spring of this year went to the east to superintend the excavations in Assyria and Babylon in the name of the University of Pennsylvania, describes in a letter just received the important results of his journey. He says: "The results of our researches exceed everything that has so far been known about Babylon. We found the great temple library and priest school of Nippur, which had been destroyed by the Elamites 228 B. C. The library consists of 16,000 volumes written on stones and covers the entire theological, astronomical, linguistic and mathematical knowledge of those days. We also unearthed a collection of letters and biographies, deciphered the inscriptions of many newly discovered tombstones and monuments and espied finally, best of all, 5,000 official documents of inestimable value to the student of ancient history. The net result of our journey consists so far of 23,000 stone writings."

A MODEL GUEST.

The Reason He Could Sympathize With the Landlord.

The Niagara Falls landlord sized the new arrival up as a kicker while he was writing his name in the register, and before anything could be said about rooms, rates or conveniences he observed:

"Perhaps you have made a mistake in the hotel. This is the Great View House. The Small View House is two blocks down the street."

"This is the place I want," replied the guest.

"But our rooms are small and the beds nothing to brag of."

"That will be all right. I've been sleeping in a hall bedroom or on a shelf for a year past."

"There is no roaring to be heard here."

"I'm glad of it."

"And the meals are very plain."

"That suits me. I've got dyspepsia, and the plainer the meals are the better."

"You don't object to hand organs by day and squalling babies by night?"

"Not the slightest. I've roamed all over Europe, and you can't have anything here to compare."

The landlord saw that he had erred in sizing the man up, but he hated to admit it and therefore continued:

"My rates are $3 per day."

"That's cheap enough for a hotel here," replied the man.

"Do you look for rainbows over the falls?"

"Not a bit of it. If they come along, I'll take my share, but any old bow will do for me."

"Are you afraid of the typhoid fever?"

"No, sir."

"There is only one cataract here."

"I don't want any more. Give me the poorest, smallest room in the house, and if you want to put a man in with me all right, and I'll use anything for a wash basin and furnish my own soap and towels. Your rates are $3 a day. Here is $100 to start on."

"Lord, Lord, but what kind of a man are you?" gasped the landlord as his head began to swim.

"I? Oh, I used to run a hotel here myself, and I know how to sympathize!" smiled the guest. "Just let things go along the same as if I wasn't here. If it's handy, give me clean sheets once in two weeks, but don't go to putting yourself out or worrying over me. Here's 33 days in advance, and in case you run short any time just let me know and I'll lend you $500 to get along on!"

Braved the Plague.

Armstrong Smith, a young Englishman who showed his bravery in helping to put down the bubonic plague in Honolulu and its neighborhood, has just returned to England. When every one fled in the presence of the pestilence, he, although described as being "pale and thin from overwork and constant knowledge of his peril, the ghost of his former self, warned by all who were close enough to advise, himself a suspect, stuck to his post and his patients." When the danger was passed, he was asked what he wished most to do, and he replied that he always wanted to be a physicion. He was urged to adopt this course, and when he replied that he had not enough money for the purpose a committee of the leading citizens gave him a purse of £1,000, asking him to accept it to study medicine or to apply to any other purpose he chose. Mr. Smith has taught in the Princess Kaiulani school for several years.

Shows Erased Writings.

A new use for the X rays has been found in the examination of ancient manuscripts and palimpsests. It was a custom of the ancients to erase, or partially erase, manuscripts on parchment for the sake of the writing material, parchment being high priced. In many cases the recovery of the erased writing is of great interest and importance. While certain chemicals have been used to render the letters of the older writing legible, their effect has generally been to destroy the manuscript sooner or later. An Italian who has made a deep study of the inks used by the ancient scribes has discovered that many of them are opaque to the X rays and that good radiographs may be made showing the now almost totally invisible writing with great distinctness.

The Princeton Corkscrew Market.

Dr. Patton, president of Princeton university, is more noted for the logic of his sermons than the wit of his speeches. But he can be very humorous on occasion. In an after dinner speech, discussing the advisability of advocating local prohibition in Princeton, he said, "Local prohibition would only create a market for corkscrews."

Last summer he decided to shave off his side whiskers, which he had worn for many years. After shaving off the left side he went to his bedroom, where his wife was sitting, and said: "My dear, I shaved one side. If you like it, I'll shave the other."—Saturday Evening Post.

He Likes Washington.

When Senator Depew was asked if he had learned anything during his first year in the senate, he replied: "Yes; I have learned many things, and one of them is that Washington is the most delightful place of residence in the world. It is just enough of a village to escape the smoke and dust and noise of commerce and industry and give us plenty of parks and shady streets. It is just enough of a city to afford the luxuries, conveniences and diversions that are necessary to the happiness of people with money."

Contagious Blood Poison

There is no poison so highly contagious, so deceptive and so destructive. Don't be too sure you are cured because all external signs of the disease have disappeared, and the doctor says you are well. Many persons have been dosed with Mercury and Potash for months or years, and pronounced cured—to realize when too late that the disease was only covered up—driven from the surface to break out again, and to their sorrow and mortification find those nearest and dearest to them have been infected by this loathsome disease, for no other poison is so surely transmitted from parent to child as this. Often a bad case of Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula or severe skin disease, an old sore or ulcer developing in middle life, can be traced to blood poison contracted in early life, for it remains smoldering in the system forever, unless properly treated and driven out in the beginning. S. S. S. is the only antidote for this peculiar virus, the only remedy known that can overcome it and drive it out of the blood, and it does this so thoroughly and effectually that there is never a return of the disease to embarrass or humiliate you afterwards.

$10 BOYS' AND GIRLS' CONTEST $10

Beginning Monday The Telegram will print one coupon each day, that is, six will be printed during the week. All the boys and girls who want to contest in the TEN DOLLAR distribution have only to save these six coupons, and they will be entitled to a check on the Telegram's Children's Bank. The checks will be as follows:

1 Capital Prize Check	$2.00
1 Second Prize Check	.50
4 Third Prize Checks, each 25c	1.00
10 Fourth Prize Checks, each 10c	1.00
10 Fifth Prize Checks, each 5c	.50
500 Checks, one penny each	5.00

All the checks will be filled out as above, and put in a box. Every child who presents the six coupons of the week will be allowed to draw out one check. The fun comes in seeing who will draw the capital prize, and who will draw dimes and quarters, and who will draw pennies. Of course most will draw pennies, but who will make the lucky draws? There will be something for all, and if the $10 is not enough something more will be deposited in the bank. When each child has drawn his check, he will present it to the bank and have it cashed. This is in no way a game of chance. Every child gets something, and no charge whatever is made. Let the children have some fun, and some of them their first experience in banking. Look out for the first coupon next Monday.

Mr. J. A. Hodgin, of the People's Savings Bank, has kindly consented in the interest of the children and to add to their amusement, to cash the checks So every boy and girl will take his or her check and have it cashed at the bank just like grown up people.

Names of White House Ladies.

It is an interesting study in nomenclature to run over the names of the presidents' wives. There has been but one Mary—Mary Todd Lincoln. There were two Marthas—Martha Dandridge Washington and Martha Wayles Jefferson; two Abigails—Abigail Powers Fillmore and Abigail Smith Adams. Another maiden possessed of the commonplace name of Smith became the wife of a president—Margaret Smith, who married Zachary Taylor. There were also two Elizas—Eliza Kartwright Monroe and Eliza McCardle Johnson.

There was a second Todd—Dolly Todd Madison. After Dolly, which was perhaps the most fanciful name, savoring more of a nickname, there were the two rather high sounding names, Letitia and Lucretia—Letitia Christian Tyler and Lucretia Rudolph Garfield. Julia Dent Grant, Lucy Webb Hayes and Louisa Catherine Adams had Christian names more modern and less sedate than Jane Appleton Pierce, Hannah Hoes Van Buren, Rachel Donelson Jackson, Sarah Childress Polk and Anne Symmes Harrison. Frances Folsom Cleveland, Caroline Scott Harrison and Ida Saxton McKinley are familiar to all.—New York Sun.

A Dog's Funeral.

A dog died in Germantown, Pa., the other day and now has a most imposing monument. The dog's name was Cæsar. He was a Great Dane and for nine years had been in the family of Mrs. T. D. M. Cardeza. There were appropriate ceremonies at the funeral. Cæsar was laid away in a silk lined coffin, with solid silver trimmings, which had been made to order by an undertaker from careful measurements. The monuments cost $100.

Brave Police.

The police of Paris earned a wonderful reputation for courage a short time ago. A wild beast, they reported, that had bitten untold numbers was wandering about the streets. The ravages committed by the creature might have been incalculable had not two gendarmes rushed in and destroyed the monster with their swords. The monster now appears to have been a poor frightened armadillo.

Pat's Happy Wish.

Judge—So the prisoner hit you on the head with a brick, did he?

McGinty—Yis, yer honor.

Judge—But it seems he didn't quite kill you, anyway.

McGinty—No, bad 'cess to him, but it's wishin he had Oi do be.

Judge—Why do you wish that?

McGinty—Begory, thin Oi would have seen the schoundrel hanged for murther!—Chicago News.

Staying at Home.

A lady residing in North Columbus meeting a girl the other day who had lately been in her service inquired:

"Well, Mary, where do you live now?"

"Please, ma'am, I don't live nowhere," rejoined the girl. "I'm married."—Indianapolis Journal.

Governors and Senators.

Sixteen members of the present United States senate have served terms as governors of their respective states. They are Bate of Tennessee, Berry of Arkansas, Culberson of Texas, Cullom of Illinois, Davis of Minnesota, Foraker of Ohio, Gear of Iowa, Hawley of Connecticut, McEnery of Louisiana, Nelson of Minnesota, Perkins of California, Proctor of Vermont, Shoup of Idaho, Tillman of South Carolina, Warren of Wyoming and Wetmore of Rhode Island.

Waiting! And what can you hope to gain? Delay means greater trouble. Save your eyes with glasses adjusted by Drs. Moore.

Jacob's Well.

At the foot of Mount Gerizim, in northern Palestine, is a rock hewn well 9 feet in diameter and 75 feet or more deep, which is traditionally held to be the ancient well of the patriarch Jacob and the same by which Jesus sat and conversed with a woman of Samaria. In very ancient times a church was built over this well. Though destroyed during the wars of the Crusades, the ruins are still traceable. All circumstances concur with the universal tradition to identify this well as the one spoken of in the sacred history. The depth of the water at the present day varies greatly, sometimes there being a depth of several feet and another time the well being almost dry. "No scene of these ancient incidents," says a writer, "is more clear and interesting than this. It is impossible not to see his very gestures when he spoke of 'this mountain'—the Gerizim which rose about him—and when he bade his hearers lift up their eyes and look on the fields, already 'white unto the harvest,' the tilled lands of Jacob's plain which stretched before him."

Li Hung Chang's Coffin For Sale.

Li Hung Chang's coffin was put up for auction at Marseilles the other day under singular circumstances.

During his globe tour of 1896 Li carried with him, wherever he went, a coffin in which, in case of death, his remains were to be conveyed to the Flowery Land.

When embarking for home at Marseilles, Li seems to have considered the coffin a useless freight.

At any rate he left it at the hotel, and the proprietor, not caring for his weird souvenir, passed it on to the customs depot, where, after reposing the statutory period, it figured in the periodical sale of unclaimed belongings.

There was no bidder.

Teddy.

Theodore Roosevelt is 5 feet 9 inches in height and weighs 165 pounds. He exercises daily, if it be only a series of movements without apparatus executed in his bedroom before his morning bath. He is of full blooded habit—the kind of man who grows very stout—but through exercise he keeps his chest measure eight inches greater than that of his waist. He has no superfluous flesh. He can chin 16 times and dip 11.—Exchange.

A Blind Prodigy.

Kokomo, Ind., has a blind prodigy who took his cottage organ to the courthouse square, tore it down and put it together in three hours. The organ contains 295 pieces, including keys and reeds. After he reconstructed the organ he played upon it. Not long ago the town clock in the city hall tower got out of order, and the blind man climbed to the clock, 185 feet, and repaired it. His name is William Brinkman.—Exchange.

Chicago Humor.

"Officer," shouted an excited man to a Chicago policeman, "those fellows in that saloon just stood me on my head and took every cent I had!"

"Thim boys at Patsy's," was the officer's comment as he moved on, "was always great at jokes."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Canada's Prospects.

Before Oct. 1 next the Crow's Nest and Teslin Lake railways will both be completed, and eastern Canada will be in a position to control the supply of the richest mining regions of the world.—Montreal Herald.

Children's headaches are often caused by eye-strain Drs. Moore's glasses have cured some. Will help you too.

LOCAL INCIDENTS.

Snatches of Greensboro News in Brief Form and Readable Shape.

One of the largest picnic crowds of the season went to the Battle Ground this evening.

Mr. J. W. Stack, janitor at the Federal building, is very sick at his home on South Elm street.

Mrs. M. C. Stewart, who has been quite ill for some time, is thought to be slightly improved.

Mrs. D. E. Thomas, who has been ill for some time, is in a critical condition. The worst is feared.

The singing class of the Oxford Orphanage came down from Mt. Airy this morning and went down the Raleigh road.

Mr. C. C. Townsend recently made a shipment of goods to Bombay, India. This is the second time that he has sold goods in that far distant country.

Annie Wharton, an old colored woman, is charged with stealing a few ears of green corn from Lucinda Garrett, a neighbor, for a Sunday dinner.

The southbound vestibule train, due here at 7:05 a. m., was an hour late this morning, caused by an accident to the engine on the Washington division.

The Ladies Aid Society of West Market Street church will hold a called meeting tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock. The members are urged to be present.

The members of the Just for Fun Club were entertained in a delightful manner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Merrimon Friday night.

There will be work in the rank of Page at the meeting of Greensboro Lodge No. 80, Knights of Pythias, this evening. All members are requested to be present. Visiting Knights will be cordially welcomed.

Rev. C. J. F. Anderson, who is soon to go as a missionary to Italy occupied the pulpit at West Washington Street Baptist church yesterday morning and last night, preaching two very fine sermons.

Two women—an Italian peddler and an old negress—had a lively fight on Cole street Saturday afternoon. The row started over a transaction involving 20 cents. They will pay for their fun in the Police Court.

Today was a good day for runaways. A pair of mules on West Market street became frightened and ran away, but did little damage. Another team near the depot tried to run a over a pole in front of Clegg's, but failed in the attempt.

A Runaway Marriage.

A runaway couple from Lexington, exceedingly anxious to be married, came to Greensboro last night. They were Mr. Fred O. Sink, local editor of the Davidson Dispatch, and Miss Mary Cecil. They were accompanied by several friends and went to the McAdoo house, from which place Mr. Sink and a friend went in quest of the register of deeds. This official was not satisfied as to the young lady's age and refused to issue the license.

The party then left on the midnight train and went to Graham, where a license was procurred and the ceremony performed at 4 o'clock this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Sink arrived from Graham on the noon train and spent the afternoon here. They go to Lexington this evening.

A NEW DRUG FIRM.

Popular Young Men Engage in Business on the Southside.

Mr H. F. Coble and Mr. W. C. Porter, Jr., two of Greensboro's most enterprising young men, who recently purchased the Asheboro Street Pharmacy, opened up for business this morning. Mr. Coble, who travels for the L. Richardson Drug Company, is well and favorably known here, and has a host of friends who wish him success. For the present Mr. Coble will remain on the road.

Mr. Porter for several years has been in the drug business, having been connected with Howard Gardner and more recently with C. E Holton. He is a young man of recogniz d ability in his chosen profession.

Mr. W. C. Porter, Sr., will have charge of the prescription department.

Baltimore, Md., is for a second time in partial darkness, the linemen's strike having been revived.

The Canadian government will abolish the obnoxious ten per cent. royalty on gold at Dawson and establish there an assay office.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.
